Summary

A Junior frontend developer, recently graduated from Nackademin, a higher vocational education institution in Sweden. While studying, I worked as a front-end developer intern at Triggerbee, contributing to UI/UX development.

Previous experience in web marketing, international logistics, customer service and store management. Originally from Tokyo and moved to Stockholm in 2016. After completing all the Swedish courses, I worked in E-commerce marketing for the Japanese market.

I also created an Instagram comic project about my life in Sweden, @yukainsweden, which reached around 20,000 followers at its peak. Frontend development and comic creation are very similar for me. Both involve visualising ideas by considering the perspectives of users or readers. Both require concentration and patience, and it brings great joy of creating. Skaparglädje is my key word, and I aspire to make such work my livelihood.

Experience

2024- 2025	Frontend Developer Intern Triggerbee Frontend development for a SaaS web customer engagement platform, contributing to user interface implementation and improvements over six months. In addition to bug fixes, testing, and small-scale UI development, I worked on the following projects: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- Implemented the front-end for a user activity log feature.</li><li>- Developed a new color picker design for the campaign editor.</li><li>- Contributed to a proof of concept (PoC) for introducing Storybook.</li></ul>
2020- 2022	Marketing Associate / Japanese Market Triwa Marketing for the Japanese market. Influencer marketing, social media communication, copy writing for digital ads and newsletter communication for subscribers. Content localization, product translation and updating e-commerce website. Inventory control and customer service in Japanese.
2013- 2015	Assistant Store Manager UNIQLO Managing UNIQLO apparel stores in Tokyo after the 6 month UMC (Uniqlo Management Candidate) program.
